SOURCE: Central Bank of Trinidad and Tobago

1 With effect from April 13, 1993, Trinidad & Tobago shifted from a fixed exchange rate regime to a system whereby the value of the Trinidad & Tobago dollar in terms of the United States dollar is based on prevailing market rates.

2 Central Banks foreign assets and liabilities have been revised to reflect market valuations from 1990. Previously the valuation was based on a constant accounting rate.

*Nb. Figures may not add up due to rounding*¹ Refers to accounts of the Consolidated Fund, Unemployment Fund, Road Improvement Fund, the Infrastructure Development Fund and the Interim Revenue Stabilisation Fund.² The data does not include $600 million transferred to the Interim Revenue Stabilisation Fund and $240.7 million transferred to the Dollar for Dollar Education Fund in September 2001 since they are not actual expenditure.³ Capital Revenue omits the proceeds from the divestment of state-owned enterprises, which are recorded as part of the Financing category. Divestment proceeds of $194 million in February 2001 and $250 million September 2002 were received from the sale of shares in National Enterprises Ltd. (NEL).⁴ Includes an adjustment for Repayment of Past Lending.⁵ Figures exclude the repayment of loans from the IDB and the EIB received by the government but onlent to the energy sector.⁶ Includes errors and omissions, advances from the Central Bank and drawdowns from the treasury deposit accounts.

Negative numbers represent an increase in deposits at the Central Bank.
